

Index

- A
- Albertini, Luigi, 45, 106; critique of neosyndicalism, 240, 251, 252
 - Almond, Gabriel, 28
 - Anarchism, 21, 37, 61–62, 72–75, 77–78, 87, 101, 113, 313, 315, 335 (n. 90). See also Radical tradition, preindustrial
 - Ansaldi, Giovanni, 310
 - Anti-Semitism, 277, 299, 309, 323–24, 326
 - Aquarone, Alberto, 27–28
 - Arfè, Gaetano, 21
 - Argentieri, Alberto, 341 (n. 9)
 - Audacia, 200
 - Avanguardia socialista*, 16, 49, 56, 60, 64, 90
- B
- Balbo, Italo, 114, 168, 199, 209, 215, 217, 224, 240; place in fascism, 210–12
 - Baldesi, Gino, 238
 - Barni, Giulio, 16, 104
 - Baroncini, Gino, 217
 - Battaglie dell'Unione Italiana del Lavoro*, 159
 - Bauer, Otto, 111
 - Benaglia, Alberto, 296–97
 - Bergson, Henri, 60, 76, 77, 287
 - Bernstein, Eduard, 62, 124, 312, 313, 316
 - Bianchi, Michele, 15, 210–11, 224
 - Biennio rosso*, 137–38, 146, 148, 189, 245; syndicalist response to, 155–56, 242–44
 - Bissolati, Leonida, 71, 97, 106, 137, 344 (n. 1)
 - Bocchini, Arturo, 279
 - Bonomi, Ivanoe, 135, 162
 - Borghesi, Armando, 74, 113, 335 (n. 90)
 - Borsa, Mario, 268
 - Bottai, Giuseppe, 13, 212, 232, 233, 234, 239, 241, 247, 249, 257, 259–60, 272–73, 275, 278, 281, 282, 289, 290, 290–91, 293, 295, 298, 299, 301, 316, 321, 326, 351 (n. 62), 363 (n. 76); place in populist fascism,
- C
- Cantimori, Delio, 4
 - Caracciolo, Alberto, 35
 - Carducci, Giosuè, 37–38
 - Carta del Carnaro*, 166, 179–81, 206, 229, 230, 265; influence on fascism, 11, 199–200, 205, 211, 215, 216, 227, 238, 301
 - Casalini, Armando, 15, 168, 174, 234
 - Casini, Gherardo, 294, 296, 298
 - Casucci, Costanzo, 4, 138
 - Cavour, Camillo di, 29–30
 - Chamber of Fasces and Corporations, 298–99, 301
 - Chambers of Labor, 39, 84; of Milan, 50, 84, 86–87; of Parma, 84, 85–86
 - Chiarelli, Giuseppe, 284, 286
 - Ciardi, Livio, 15, 107, 206, 293
 - Ciarrantini, Franco, 15
 - Ciattini, Alighiero, 15, 81, 175; on crisis of liberalism, 160–61, 172–73; on Italian cultural deficiencies, 260–61
 - Cimbali, Enrico, 319
 - Colajanni, Napoleone, 58
 - Collana di studi fascisti*, 286
 - Commission of Fifteen; Commission of Eighteen, 13, 14, 190, 235, 237–39, 258, 280
 - Confédération Générale du Travail, 66
 - Coppola, Francesco, 121, 141, 189, 190, 284, 286
 - Cordova, Ferdinando, 218
 - Corporativism, 11, 19; in interpretation of fascism, 7, 9, 307–8; Ferrara meeting on (1932), 13, 211, 268, 293, 294–96, 299; and internationalism, 124–25, 127, 301; in Italian Nationalism, 143–48; relationship to Mussolini, 184–85, 228, 266, 274–75, 281–87, 293, 294, 297–98, 349 (n. 5); and Fascist party, 198, 205–6, 207, 244, 278–79, 291–92, 297, 298; antifascist criticism of, 230, 250–55, 298, 363 (n. 81); 364 (n. 102); advent of, within Fascist regime, 234–41; contrast between populist and elitist conceptions of, 242–44, 248–49, 271–73; as vehicle for political participation, 242–44, 249–57, 258–59, 270–71, 272–73, 298–99, 320–21; tensions and weaknesses in, 244, 249, 259, 267–71, 289–92, 294–96, 301–5, 317, 322, 323–24, 364 (n. 102); as totalitarian overreaction, 249, 256–67, 73, 325; convergence of economics and politics in, 254–55, 256–57, 267–68, 270–71, 289–90, 296, 317–18; as vehicle for political coordination of the economy, 256–60, 264, 265, 270–71, 282, 295, 297, 300–301, 304–5; and productivism, 257–62; as antidote to Italian cultural deficiencies, 259–63, 266, 302–3; as vehicle for social solidarity, 262–63; and ongoing need for syndicates, 262, 294–96; as antidote to weakness of liberal state, 263–67, 270–71; struggle for implementation in regime, 274–75, 276–77, 280–84, 287–94, Italy's mission, 301–6, 322 Corradini, Enrico, 45–47, 177–19, 123, 126, 144, 151, 237, 247, 287; on proletarian nations, 118; on Libyan War, 120–21; advocates political role for business, 143–44

Corridoni, Filippo, 15, 53, 56, 73, 74, 87, 90, 100, 107, 110, 113, 114–15, 132, 159, 209; Sindacalismo e repubblica, 93–94; cult of, 177, 228, 283 Costamagna, Carlo, 233, 237, 239; polemic with Panunzio, 241, 242–44; conception of corporative state, 242–44, 296 Crispi, Francesco, 38, 39–40, 90 Critica fascista, 13, 204 Croce, Benedetto, 60; on fascism, 4, 329 (n. 1); on Marxism in Italy, 38–39; on death of socialism, 83 Cultura sindacale, 158, 225 Curcio, Carlo, 16, 284, 286, 294

D'Anunzio, Gabriele, 166, 179–80, 186–87, 188, 205, 215, 216, 227

De Azeglio, Massimo, 30

De Ambris, Alceste, 16, 53, 73, 74, 85–87, 90, 99–102, 104, 108, 114, 126, 166, 173, 177, 178, 179, 185, 206, 214, 265, 338 (n. 11); on intervention and war, 106–7, 112–13, 115, 122, 125; on postwar socialism, 156; favors class collaboration, 158; and the Fiume movement, 179–81, 186–87, 188, 215; diverges from fascism, 227, 228–31, 247–48

De Ambris, Amilcare, 15

Decadence: Pareto on, 46, 59; syndicalists on, 73, 80–81, 103–4, 257; Sorel on, 77; fascists on, 202

De Falco, Giuseppe, 99–100

De Felice, Renzo, 4, 6, 7, 10, 218, 221, 223, 327 (n. 1, n. 4), 349 (n. 5), 353 (n. 34), 364 (n. 100), 366 (n. 1)

De Marsanich, Augusto, 233

De Pietri-Tonelli, Alfonso, 15, 94

Depretis, Agostino, 36, 42, 44, 135, 182, 324, 325; political system of, 31–35

De Ruggiero, Guido: as critic of neosyndicalism, 11, 240, 250–51, 252, 253–56, 263; as critic of Italian political life, 27, 136–37, 195

Destra Storica, 30–31, 33–34, 36–37

Devant social, 83

Dinale, Ottavio, 15, 116, 174–75, 187

Divenire sociale II, 16, 51, 59, 75, 283

Drieu La Rochelle, Pierre, 23

Duguit, Léon, 313, 316, 318–19

Durkheim, Emile, 62–63, 67, 313, 316, 318, 319, 334 (n. 63)

E

Educational Charter (1939), 299–300

Einaudi, Luigi, 45

Elections, parliamentary: of 1876, 31; of 1913, 44; of 1904, 50–51, 84; of 1919, 134, 178–79, 185, 186; of 1921, 187, 213; of 1924, 232, 234

Elitism: in Pareto's thought, 59, 165, 166–67, 314; in syndicalist thinking, 65, 78–79, 88, 103, 153, 165–67, 175, 177; in Mussolini's socialism, 100; in Nationalism and right fascism, 117, 140–48, 150–52, 188–91, 246, 324; in populist fascism, 244, 252, 278–79, 288, 292; in Lenin's socialism, 313

Elitist fascism. See Right fascism

Emigration, Italian, 47; syndicalist concern with, 108–9, 125, 126–27; Nationalist concern with, 118

Ethiopian War (1935–36), 127, 298, 305, 326

D'Azeleglio, Massimo, 30

De Ambris, Alceste, 16, 53, 73, 74, 85–87, 90, 99–102, 104, 108, 114, 126, 166, 173, 177, 178, 179, 185, 206, 214, 265, 338 (n. 11); on intervention and war, 106–7, 112–13, 115, 122, 125; on postwar socialism, 156; favors class collaboration, 158; and the Fiume movement, 179–81, 186–87, 188, 215; diverges from fascism, 227, 228–31, 247–48

De Ambris, Amilcare, 15

Decadence: Pareto on, 46, 59; syndicalists on, 73, 80–81, 103–4, 257; Sorel on, 77; fascists on, 202

De Falco, Giuseppe, 99–100

De Felice, Renzo, 4, 6, 7, 10, 218, 221, 223, 327 (n. 1, n. 4), 349 (n. 5), 353 (n. 34), 364 (n. 100), 366 (n. 1)

De Marsanich, Augusto, 233

De Pietri-Tonelli, Alfonso, 15, 94

Depretis, Agostino, 36, 42, 44, 135, 182, 324, 325; political system of, 31–35

De Ruggiero, Guido: as critic of neosyndicalism, 11, 240, 250–51, 252, 253–56, 263; as critic of Italian political life, 27, 136–37, 195

Destra Storica, 30–31, 33–34, 36–37

Devant social, 83

Dinale, Ottavio, 15, 116, 174–75, 187

Divenire sociale II, 16, 51, 59, 75, 283

Drieu La Rochelle, Pierre, 23

Duguit, Léon, 313, 316, 318–19

Durkheim, Emile, 62–63, 67, 313, 316, 318, 319, 334 (n. 63)

F

Facta, Luigi, 135

Fani-Ciotti, Vincenzo [Volti], 233

Farinacci, Roberto, 190, 199, 205, 206, 212, 234, 239, 296, 299, 322, 326, 350 (n. 32); place in populist fascism, 197–98, 207–8, 210

Fascio rivoluzionario d'azione internazionalista; Fasci di azione rivoluzionaria, 107, 114, 201, 211

Fascism, Italian: and European radical tradition, 63, 312–22; components within, 188–89, 191–99, 205–12; convergence and divergence of components within, 246–49, 271–73, 308; failure of, 297–98, 322–26; and "modernity," 302–6, 308–12, 320–22. See also Corporativism; Fascist labor movement; Fascist movement; Fascist party; Populist fascism; Right fascism

Fascist Faculty of Political Science (at the University of Perugia), 16, 276, 284–87

Fascist labor movement, 20, 238, 282, 291–92, 294–96, 297, 300, 364 (n. 96); and populist fascism, 196–97, 198, 205, 206–7, 211, 217–18, 220–25, 226–28, 229–30, 233, 235; reorganization of 1928, 206–7, 289–90, 293. See also Corporativism; Populist fascism

Fascist movement, 135, 177, 178–79, 180–81, 187–88, 279; as antilabor reaction, 187, 188, 193, 196–97, 214–15, 216, 217, 218, 223, 227, 314, 315, 321. See also Fascist party; Populist fascism

Fascist party: conceptions of, 198, 278–79, 284, 288–89, 290, 298, 322; and corporativism, 198, 205–6, 207, 244, 278–79, 291–92, 297, 298; national congress of 1921, 216, 218–21; and Fascist labor movement, 224, 229–30; National Council meeting of August 1924, 237, 238, 240, 251. See also Fascist movement; Fascist regime; Populist fascism

Fascist regime: role of myth in, 18, 274, 276–77, 288, 301–5; relationship to liberal Italy, 25–26, 324–26, 329 (n. 1); essential characteristics of, 184, 279, 291, 307, 322–26; openness and fluidity in, 184, 275, 281–82, 283, 286, 294, 299; tensions and contradictions in, 185, 247–48, 273, 299, 326; fascist criticism of, 274–75, 276, 283, 290, 94, 297–301, 305; reform of Chamber of Deputies (1928), 283, 287–88; establishment of corporatism (1934); 297–98; reform of legal codes (1942), 300–301. See also Corporativism; Fascism; Mussolini, Benito

G

General Confederation of Labor (Confederazione generale del lavoro), 51, 84, 85, 86–88, 138, 185, 186, 226–27, 229, 230

Gentile, Giovanni: and fascist ideology, 11, 19; on Italian experience of World War I, 129–30

Gerarchia, 166, 283, 287, 298

Giovanni, Luciano, 28

General Confederation of Labor (Confederazione generale del lavoro), 51, 84, 85, 86–88, 138, 185, 186, 226–27, 229, 230

Giovanni, Luciano, 28

Giordani, Giovanni, 179

Gobetti, Piero, 195, 232, 324, 329 (n. 1); Gramsci, Antonio, 57, 196, 315, 363 (n. 81); interpretation of syndicalism, 53–54, 199

Grand Council of Fascism, 239, 282, 288, 293, 298

Grandi, Dino, 7, 168, 204, 210, 212, 226, 232, 247, 300, 316, 326, 353 (n. 34); place in populist fascism, 198, 199, 200–203, 205, 208; and neosyndicalism, 201–3, 216–24; and Nationalism, 202–3; on international relations, 202–3; opposition to parliamentary fascism, 215–24; and fascist labor movement, 217–18

Graziadei, Antonio, 71, 97

Gruppi di competenza, 234

H

Hamon, Augustin, 60

Hervé, Gustave, 103

Hilter, Adolf, 182, 231, 304

Humanité nouvelle, 60

F

Facta, Luigi, 135

Fani-Ciotti, Vincenzo [Volti], 233

Farinacci, Roberto, 190, 199, 205, 206, 212, 234, 239, 296, 299, 322, 326, 350 (n. 32); place in populist fascism, 197–98, 207–8, 210

Fascio rivoluzionario d'azione internazionalista; Fasci di azione rivoluzionaria, 107, 114, 201, 211

Fascism, Italian: and European radical tradition, 63, 312–22; components within, 188–89, 191–99, 205–12; convergence and divergence of components within, 246–49, 271–73, 308; failure of, 297–98, 322–26; and "modernity," 302–6, 308–12, 320–22. See also Corporativism; Fascist labor movement; Fascist movement; Fascist party; Populist fascism

Fascist Faculty of Political Science (at the University of Perugia), 16, 276, 284–87

Fascist labor movement, 20, 238, 282, 291–92, 294–96, 297, 300, 364 (n. 96); and populist fascism, 196–97, 198, 205, 206–7, 211, 217–18, 220–25, 226–28, 229–30, 233, 235; reorganization of 1928, 206–7, 289–90, 293. See also Corporativism; Populist fascism

Fascist movement, 135, 177, 178–79, 180–81, 187–88, 279; as antilabor reaction, 187, 188, 193, 196–97, 214–15, 216, 217, 218, 223, 227, 314, 315, 321. See also Fascist party; Populist fascism

Fascist party: conceptions of, 198, 278–79, 284, 288–89, 290, 298, 322; and corporativism, 198, 205–6, 207, 244, 278–79, 291–92, 297, 298; national congress of 1921, 216, 218–21; and Fascist labor movement, 224, 229–30; National Council meeting of August 1924, 237, 238, 240, 251. See also Fascist movement; Fascist regime; Populist fascism

Fascist regime: role of myth in, 18, 274, 276–77, 288, 301–5; relationship to liberal Italy, 25–26, 324–26, 329 (n. 1); essential characteristics of, 184, 279, 291, 307, 322–26; openness and fluidity in, 184, 275, 281–82, 283, 286, 294, 299; tensions and contradictions in, 185, 247–48, 273, 299, 326; fascist criticism of, 274–75, 276, 283, 290, 94, 297–301, 305; reform of Chamber of Deputies (1928), 283, 287–88; establishment of corporatism (1934); 297–98; reform of legal codes (1942), 300–301. See also Corporativism; Fascism; Mussolini, Benito

I

Idée nationale, 1, 47

Ideas: in interpretation of fascism, 8–10,

- 24; in historical explanation, 17–20; and struggles within Fascist regime, 191, 235, 240–41, 284–86
- Impperialism: in Nationalism, 47, 118, 120–22, 140; syndicalists on, 103–4, 109, 110, 124–27; in fascist period, 299, 305, 326
- Industrialization, Italian: doubts about Italy's capacity for, 33, 38; impact of political system on, 35, 36, 43–44; takeoff period, 38; as source of confidence, 38, 39, 45, 46, 48, 55; weaknesses of, 43–44, 310; syndicalist attraction to, 54–55, 56–57, 70, 169, 257; in context of World War I, 131–32; Nationalist attraction to, 139–40, 142–43. See also Business class, Intellectuals; appeal of fascism to, 23–24 Internationalism: in syndicalist thinking, 122–28, 301
- Internazionale*, L', 91
- Interventionism, 105–6, 113–14, 130, 132, 134, 180; syndicalists' role in, 20–21, 68, 104, 106–7, 114; Nationalists' role in, 121 Italian character; political culture, and self-image, 27–29, 31, 35, 306; and the political establishment, 26–27, 148–50; in historiography, 29; and syndicalist tradition, 80–81, 103–4, 160, 174–75; and World War I, 129–31; and Nationalism, 141, 190, 246; corporativism as vehicle to change, 259–63, 266; and weaknesses of populist fascism, 302–5, 309–10, 311, 323
- Italian Nationalist Association. See Italia nostra, L'
- Italia nostra*, L', 119
- JJuridical socialism, 318–19
- LLabor Charter (1927), 206, 265, 281–83, 284, 286, 293, 301
- Labor movement, Italian, 39, 50; syndicalism within, 50–51, 84–88, 177, 229; syndicalist perceptions of, 58, 225–27; schism within, 86–87; fascist perceptions of, 185–86, 214, 229–30, 242–44, 245. See also General Confederation of Labor; Chambers of Labor; Fascist labor movement; Unione Italiana del Lavoro; Unione Sindacale Italiana; Working class, Italian
- Labriola, Antonio, 60
- Labriola, Arturo, 16, 53, 72, 98, 119, 122, 339 (n. 58); spearheads opposition to
- reformism, 49–50; mixture of populism and Marxism in, 55–56, 89–92; and revision of Marxism, 57–59, 63; contacts with Pareto and Sorel, 59–60; focus on labor movement, 63–65; critique of Sorel's myth, 77–78; divergence from syndicalist mainstream, 89–92; on war, 103–4, 110, 119; nationalism of, 108–9
- Lacerba*, 46
- Lagardelle, Hubert, 60, 76
- Lanzillotto, Agostino, 11, 53, 73, 74, 76, 102, 107, 109–11, 114, 129, 156–57, 159–60, 177, 178, 186, 188, 201, 237, 245, 262–63, 276, 298, 300, 316, 326, 346 (n. 11); biographical sketch of, 14; La disfatta del socialismo, 161, 164–65, 178; on war and new elite, 165; on reform or political representation, 173, 236; on fascist violence, 234, 236–37; diminished influence of, 280
- LaPalombara, Joseph, 28–29
- Lavoro d'Italia*, II; Lavoro fascista, II, 14, 225, 226
- Lazzari, Costantino, 52, 137
- Le Bon, Gustave, 183
- Left fascism. See Populist fascism; Corporativism
- Lenin, Vladimir Illich, 79, 137, 313, 314–15
- Leone, Enrico, 51, 53, 76, 85, 97, 98, 101, 104, 225, 283, 339 (n. 58); hedonistic conception of, 67–69
- Liberalism: fascism as reaction against, 7, 308, 309, 311–312; in Italian experience, 8, 26, 31–35, 132, 134–35, 142; conservative criticism of, 36–37, 40, 42–43, 45; syndicalist opposition to, 71–73, 80, 92–96, 159, 160–61, 167–69, 170–73, 175; Nationalist opposition to, 142–44, 145, 146–48, 150–52, 189; corporativism as reaction against, 242–47, 248–60, 262–67, 270–73, 297, 299; liberal critique of corporativism, 250–52, 253–55, 328 (n. 28); and European radical tradition, 312–22. See also Liberal Italy
- Liberal Italy: relationship to Fascist regime, 25–26, 324–26, 329 (n. 1); restrictiveness of, 30–31, 34–35; Giolittian era in, 40–45; syndicalist critique of, 71–73, 80, 90–96, 102, 116, 159; impact of World War I on, 132; postwar crisis of, 133–39, 148, 195, 314–15, 319; Nationalist critique of, 146–47. See also Liberalism
- Liberal parliamentary system. See Liberalism
- Libyan War, 47, 86; syndicalist position on, 68, 103–4; Nationalist conception of, 13, 60, 98–99, 113, 153, 177–79, 187–88, 228, 276–77, 328 (n. 27); as revolutionary socialist, 98–101; and interventionism, 113–14; and Fiume movement, 180–81, 186–87, 188; overall role in fascism, 182–85, 274–76, 279, 307, 325–26; pessimism of, 183, 275, 297–98, 307; and corporativism, 184–85, 228, 274–75, 276–77, 281–87, 293, 294, 297–98, 349 (n. 5); postwar political maneuvering, 185–87, 213–14, 215–19, 220–22, 224, 228; populist fascist friction with, 205, 211, 214–25, 232; as prime minister (1922–25), 229–30, 231–32, 234–38, 240
- Maraviglia, Maurizio, 248, 249, 284
- Marinetti, Filippo Tommaso, 46, 75, 261, 222, 226
- Marsich, Piero, 9, 199–200, 205, 215, 216, 304, 309, 312–22; syndicalist uses of, 18–19, 54–57, 77–78, 79–81, 109, 153–54, 161–65, 169, 315–16, 333 (n. 28); impact in Italy of, 38–39, 313; revisionism in, 55–56, 57–64, 67–70, 77, 312–14, 333 (n. 28); voluntarism in, 58, 68–70, 75, 77, 312–13; and imperialism, 124; in European radical tradition, 162–63, 312–22
- Matteotti, Giacomo, 88, 107
- Matthews, Herbert, 11
- Maurras, Charles, 120, 151
- Mazzini, Giuseppe, 312, 313, 319; fascist cult of, 7, 194–95, 199, 201, 202, 204, 210, 219, 304, 316; in syndicalist thinking, 115, 167–68, 229, 315; and corporativism, 251–52, 262
- Mazzoldi, Paolo, 104
- Menger, Anton, 319
- Merlino, Francesco Saverio, 55, 59, 60–62, 63, 313–14, 316, 317, 318; Pro e contro il socialismo, 60–61, 62, 162–64
- Michels, Robert, 284, 286
- Minghetti, Marco, 33–34, 36–37
- Ministry of Corporations, 206, 275, 281, 282, 288–89, 290–91, 292, 297, 298. See also Corporativism; Fascist regime
- Mosca, Gaetano, 189, 250, 331 (n. 70); critical of Italian political system, 37, 45; influence on syndicalism, 55, 93; on postwar crisis, 148
- Mouvement Socialiste*, 66
- Mussolini, Arnaldo, 236
- Mussolini, Benito, 4, 6, 18, 19, 21, 79, 106, 135, 162, 170, 176, 177, 188, 198, 207, 289, 290, 291, 299, 305, 316, 322–23, 353 (n. 34); relationship to syndicalism of, 10, 13, 60, 98–99, 113, 153, 177–79, 187–88, 228, 276–77, 328 (n. 27); as revolutionary socialist, 98–101; and interventionism, 113–14; and Fiume movement, 180–81, 186–87, 188; overall role in fascism, 182–85, 274–76, 279, 307, 325–26; pessimism of, 183, 275, 297–98, 307; and corporativism, 184–85, 228, 274–75, 276–77, 281–87, 293, 294, 297–98, 349 (n. 5); postwar political maneuvering, 185–87, 213–14, 215–19, 220–22, 224, 228; populist fascist friction with, 205, 211, 214–25, 232; as prime minister (1922–25), 229–30, 231–32, 234–38, 240
- Myth and myth-making in Fascist regime, 18, 274, 276–77, 288, 301–5, 325; in Italian syndicalism, 76–78; Sorel on, 77–78; fascist interest in, 183, 219
- NNational Council of Corporations, 275, 290, 292–93, 294, 297, 298
- Nationalism: of syndicalists, 107–12, 119–20, 122, 124–26; and socialism, 111–12; in populist fascism, 309. See also Nationalism, Italian
- Nationalism, Italian, 106, 171–72, 179; as major component in fascism, 4–5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 189–91, 192, 221, 244–46, 311, 322; origins of, 45–48; on imperialism and war, 47, 118, 120–22, 123, 140; relationship to syndicalism, 117–20, 122–28, 246, 248–49, 271–73, 278, 280, 287; elitism of, 117, 140–48, 150–52, 246, 273, 278; conception of international relations, 120–22, 139–40; on Libyan War, 120–21; on intervention and World War I, 121–22, 139–40, 143; postwar program, 135, 139–52; postwar influence of, 139, 148–50, 152, 189–91, 202–3, 204; concern with international economic competition, 139–46, 147–48, 190; interpretation of, 140–41, 145–46, 150–52; totalitarian thrust of, 143, 145–48, 150–51, 189–91, 245–46, 271, 273; on labor unions, 144–48, 245. See also Right fascism
- Nazism and Nazi Germany, 277, 299, 302, 304, 308–9, 310, 311, 322, 326, 366 (n. 9)
- Nenni, Pietro, 138
- Nietzsche, Friedrich, 75
- Nitti, Francesco Saverio: as critic of Italian business class, 44; as prime minister, 133, 134, 136
- Nolte, Ernst, 221, 314
- O Olivetti, Angelo Oliviero, 11, 12, 16, 53,

- 65, 72, 78, 80, 88, 98, 103–4, 108, 115, 119–20, 156, 165, 166, 175, 176, 177, 188, 201, 207, 215, 217, 225, 226, 227, 237, 238, 239, 240, 247, 256, 257, 258, 262, 264, 272, 276, 278–79, 280, 282, 283–84, 285, 288, 289, 290, 292, 294, 303, 304, 316, 323; biographical sketch of, 13–14; rhetoric in, 21–22, 251–52; critical of irrationalism, 75; concern with Italian character, 80, 81; and intervention, 107; critique of liberal political order, 159, 160, 167; on Mazzini, 167; “Manifesto dei sindacalisti,” 174, 177, 217, 226; adherence to fascism, 235–36, 354 (n. 77); polemic with liberals, 251–52, 268; antipolitics of, 268, 269, 325; criticism of fascist practice, 279, 291, 293–94; Olivetti, Ezio Maria, 280, 283
- Omodeo, Adolfo, 136, 194–95
- Orano, Paolo, 11, 76, 81, 103–4, 108, 156, 239–40, 261, 262, 266, 283, 284, 301, 343 (n. 82); biographical sketch of, 14; and Italian Nationalism, 118–19; and value of World War I, 154–55; superficiality and anti-Semitism in, 323–24
- Orlando, Vittorio Emanuele: on neosyndicalism, 11, 240, 242, 328 (n. 28); as prime minister, 133–34
- P
- Pacification Pact (1921), 214–18, 220–23, 227
- Pagine libere, 13, 14, 80, 90, 104, 107, 108, 156, 187, 201, 283
- Palazzo Chigi Pact (1923), 234, 290
- Pantaleoni, Matteo, 59
- Panunzio, Sergio, 9, 11, 12, 18, 20, 53, 63, 72, 75, 78, 80–81, 97, 98, 101, 112, 114, 129, 157, 166, 177, 178, 201, 207, 208, 210, 211, 212, 217, 225–27, 238, 239, 247, 257, 259, 262, 264, 265, 266, 267, 277, 278, 279, 280, 282, 287, 289, 293, 296, 296–97, 298–99, 300–301, 303, 304, 305, 321, 323, 326, 328 (n. 27, n. 28), 334 (n. 63), 363 (n. 81); biographical sketch of, 12–13; rhetoric in, 22, 116, 211, 305; on labor organizations, 64, 67; critique of irrationalism, 75, 77, 123, 171; on war, 103, 123; on intervention and World War I, 107, 113, 115–16, 122–25, 211; on Italian Nationalism, 119, 120, 246; on international relations, 122–25, 127–28, 301, 305; reexamination of European socialist tradition, 161–64, 167; postwar political proposals, 169–76; on popular political education, 170–72, 250–51, 252–53) on Political coordination of economy, 176, 254–57, 268; spearheads neosyndicalist push within fascism, 232–33, 237, 239–41; polemic with Costamagna, 241, 242–44; conception of Fascist state, 49; debate with De Ruggiero, 250–51, 253–56; and Fascist Faculty of Political Science, 284–87; critique of Spirito, 295–96; on place of fascism in European radical tradition, 316–19
- Papini, Giovanni, 284, 301, 305
- Pareto, Vilfredo, 67, 183, 250, 313, 314; critical of Italian political culture, 37, 46; influence on new Italian Right, 46, 331 (n. 70); on elites, 59, 165, 166–67, 314; influence on syndicalism, 59, 63, 78, 103, 163–66, 316
- Patria del popolo, La, 119–20, 167
- Peasantry: in Salvemini strategy, 52; in Gramsci interpretation of syndicalism, 53–54; syndicalist conception of, 57, 73 Pelizzi, Camillo, 328 (n. 26), 351 (n. 62)
- Pelloutier, Fernand, 60, 66
- Pelloux, Luigi, 40, 90
- Petrone, Igino, 162
- Petty bourgeois fascism. See Populist fascism
- Petty bourgeoisie: in Italian fascism, 4, 5–8, 8–9, 10, 159–60, 191–95, 222–24, 301–5, 308–11, 315–16, 322, 327 (n. 3, n. 8); links to syndicalist tradition, 11, 203–25, 225–26, 269–70, 315–16; as social basis of syndicalism, 20–21, 305, 329 (n. 48); defined, 20–21; and European radical tradition, 23, 312–14, 315–20. See also Populist fascism; Rhetoric
- Piatti, Piero, 29
- Political elite, Italian: pessimism of, 26, 41–42, 44–45, 129, 131, 133, 135, 136, 148–50, 168, 183; priorities of, 30–31, 34–35, 39–40, 42–45; criticism of, 46, 250; in syndicalist thinking, 80, 92–96, 160–61; in aftermath of World War I, 133–37; relationship with fascism, 135, 182, 184, 186–87, 231, 291, 299, 307, 324–26; Nationalist proposals to renew, 142–44, 149; fascist critique and resentment of, 193–94, 246–47, 250, 263. See also Liberal Italy
- Politics: fascist opposition to, 7, 10, 199, 205; reexamination of European socialist tradition, 161–64, 167; postwar political proposals, 169–76; on popular political education, 170–72, 250–51, 252–53) on Political coordination of economy, 176, 254–57, 268; spearheads neosyndicalist push within fascism, 232–33, 237, 239–41; polemic with Costamagna, 241, 242–44; conception of Fascist state, 49; debate with De Ruggiero, 250–51, 253–56; and Fascist Faculty of Political Science, 284–87; critique of Spirito, 295–96; on place of fascism in European radical tradition, 316–19
- Poniatowski, Stanislaw, 166
- Pontremoli, Giuseppe, 46–47, 75, 331 (n. 70)
- Proletarian nation concept, 47, 118, 126, 189, 203
- Propaganda, 56
- Protectionism, 36, 43–44, 93, 109, 125, 159–60, 202–3, 310
- Proudhon, Pierre-Joseph, 312, 313, 315, 316–17, 318, 319
- Q
- Quilici, Nello, 114
- R
- Racheli, Mario, 15, 206, 217, 224, 289, 290, 295
- Radical tradition, European: role of syndicalism in, 23, 161–64, 169; role of left in European radical tradition, 62, 312–15, 317; syndicalist focus on, 64, 79–81,
- Political coordination of economy, 176, 254–57, 268; spearheads neosyndicalist push within fascism, 232–33, 237, 239–41; polemic with Costamagna, 241, 242–44; conception of Fascist state, 49; debate with De Ruggiero, 250–51, 253–56; and Fascist Faculty of Political Science, 284–87; critique of Spirito, 295–96; on place of fascism in European radical tradition, 316–19
- Panunzio, Vito, 284, 301, 305
- Pareto, Vilfredo, 67, 183, 250, 313, 314; critical of Italian political culture, 37, 46; influence on new Italian Right, 46, 331 (n. 70); on elites, 59, 165, 166–67, 314; influence on syndicalism, 59, 63, 78, 103, 163–66, 316
- Patria del popolo, La, 119–20, 167
- Peasantry: in Salvemini strategy, 52; in Gramsci interpretation of syndicalism, 53–54; syndicalist conception of, 57, 73
- Pelizzi, Camillo, 328 (n. 26), 351 (n. 62)
- Pelloutier, Fernand, 60, 66
- Pelloux, Luigi, 40, 90
- Petrone, Igino, 162
- Petty bourgeois fascism. See Populist fascism
- Petty bourgeoisie: in Italian fascism, 4, 5–8, 8–9, 10, 159–60, 191–95, 222–24, 301–5, 308–11, 315–16, 322, 327 (n. 3, n. 8); links to syndicalist tradition, 11, 203–25, 225–26, 269–70, 315–16; as social basis of syndicalism, 20–21, 305, 329 (n. 48); defined, 20–21; and European radical tradition, 23, 312–14, 315–20. See also Populist fascism; Rhetoric
- Piatti, Piero, 29
- Political elite, Italian: pessimism of, 26, 41–42, 44–45, 129, 131, 133, 135, 136, 148–50, 168, 183; priorities of, 30–31, 34–35, 39–40, 42–45; criticism of, 46, 250; in syndicalist thinking, 80, 92–96, 160–61; in aftermath of World War I, 133–37; relationship with fascism, 135, 182, 184, 186–87, 231, 291, 299, 307, 324–26; Nationalist proposals to renew, 142–44, 149; fascist critique and resentment of, 193–94, 246–47, 250, 263. See also Liberal Italy
- Politics: fascist opposition to, 7, 10, 199, 205; reexamination of European socialist tradition, 161–64, 167; postwar political proposals, 169–76; on popular political education, 170–72, 250–51, 252–53) on Political coordination of economy, 176, 254–57, 268; spearheads neosyndicalist push within fascism, 232–33, 237, 239–41; polemic with Costamagna, 241, 242–44; conception of Fascist state, 49; debate with De Ruggiero, 250–51, 253–56; and Fascist Faculty of Political Science, 284–87; critique of Spirito, 295–96; on place of fascism in European radical tradition, 316–19
- Poniatowski, Stanislaw, 166
- Pontremoli, Giuseppe, 46–47, 75, 331 (n. 70)
- Proletarian nation concept, 47, 118, 126, 189, 203
- Propaganda, 56
- Protectionism, 36, 43–44, 93, 109, 125, 159–60, 202–3, 310
- Proudhon, Pierre-Joseph, 312, 313, 315, 316–17, 318, 319
- Q
- Quilici, Nello, 114
- R
- Racheli, Mario, 15, 206, 217, 224, 289, 290, 295
- Radical tradition, European: role of syndicalism in, 23, 161–64, 169; role of left in European radical tradition, 62, 312–15, 317; syndicalist focus on, 64, 79–81,
- Radical tradition, preindustrial: disillusionment with, 37–38, 39; and syndicalism, 53–57, 73–75; in emergence of fascism, 313–22. See also Anarchism; Peasantry
- Ranelletti, Oreste, 148, 150
- Razza, Luigi, 15, 53, 206, 256, 257, 278, 290, 295, 296, 297
- Rebatet, Lucien, 23
- Red Week (1914), 74–75, 101–2
- Reformism, 137; in Italian Socialist party, 49–50; in Italian socialist movement, 51–52, 55, 64, 84–85; criticism of, 52–53, 56–57, 64–66, 89, 91; in General Confederation of Labor, 86. See also Labor movement, Italian; Socialist party, Italian
- Regno, Il, 45–46, 47, 331 (n. 70)
- Renda, Antonio, 15, 343 (n. 82)
- Revolutionary syndicalism: in France, 60–61, 66, 75–76, 77–78; in Spain, 66. See also Sorel, Georges; Syndicalism, Italian
- Rhetoric: in syndicalist tradition, 18, 21–22, 116, 160, 174, 211, 251–52, 270, 277, 305, 323; in populist fascism, 200, 204, 209, 219, 261, 270, 271, 301–5, 310, 322, 324. See also Myth and myth-making; Petty bourgeoisie
- Ricci, Umberto: critical of neosyndicalism, 11, 21, 240, 251, 252; and postwar crisis, 148
- Right fascism, 188–91, 308, 324; opposition to leftist corporativism, 233, 237; corporativist conception of, 242–46, 248–49, 273, 296. See also Fascism, Italian; Nationalism, Italian; Rocco, Alfredo
- Rigola, Rinaldo, 229
- Rinnovamento, Il, 16, 173, 178, 328 (n. 27)
- Rocca, Massimo, 15, 166, 224
- Rocco, Alfredo, 5, 9, 11, 20, 47, 140, 141, 142, 202, 241, 248, 249, 280, 281, 282, 287; on international relations, 120–22; on socioeconomic organization, 144–48, 150, 247; fear of leveling and social disintegration, 146–47, 151–52; proposes Magistracy of Labor, 147–48; right fascist continuum, 189–91; as fascist Minister of Justice, 238–39, 244–46; and syndical law of 1926, 239–40, 245
- Rosenstock-Franck, Louis, 11
- Rosselli, Carlo, 195, 298, 329 (n. 1)
- Rossi, Cesare, 15, 214, 223, 354 (n. 59)
- Rossi, Pasquale, 67
- Rossoni, Edmondo, 14–15, 20, 108, 114, 119, 158, 177, 185, 212, 217, 224–25, 226–27, 234, 237, 238–39, 258, 260, 282, 288, 295, 296, 304, fascist opposition to,

- Starace, Achille, 197, 198, 279
- Fascist regime, 280–81
- Rousiers, Paul de, 61
- Rudini, Antonio di, 40
- Russian Revolution: Italian Socialist intervention with, 137–39; syndicalist response to, 155–57, 158, 316; in Grandi's thinking, 203
- Ryger, Maria, 339 (n. 58)
- S
- Salandra, Antonio, 106, 237
- Salvatorelli, Luigi: interpretation of fascism, 5–6, 20, 310; historiographical influence, 6–7
- Salvermini, Gaetano, 91, 98, 106, 331 (n. 54), 364 (n. 102); on intellectual petty bourgeoisie, 20–21; critique of reformism, 52–53; syndicalist divergence from, 56–57
- Salvioli, Giuseppe, 319
- Sindacalismo, 229
- Sismondi: Jean Sismonde de, 312, 315–17
- Socialist movement: Italian: populism within, 39, 52; split within, 51–55. See also Labor movement, Italian; Socialist party, Italian
- Socialist party, Italian: in postwar crisis, 4, 133, 134, 137–39, 196, 314, 315, 321; foundation of, 39; in Giolittian system, 41; strategic disputes within (1900–1904), 49–50; relationship with General Confederation of Labor, 51, 84, 226; declares syndicalism heretical, 85; role of left wing (1912–13), 98–101; and World War I, 113, 137–38, 229, 236; fascist perceptions of, 186, 189, 202, 209, 213, 214, 236. See also Reformism
- Solidarism, 318–19
- Sonnino, Sidney, 40, 105, 106
- Sorel, Georges, 55, 59, 66, 75, 91, 157, 166, 168, 201, 236, 280, 312–13; and Italian syndicalism, 14, 51, 60–61, 64, 75–78, 116–17, 163–64, 170, 318; Avenir socialiste des syndicats, 60, 61, 62–63, 64, 76, 170, 287; Reflections on Violence, 60, 75, 83, 98; and Mussolini, 60, 98–99, 183; perceptions of the labor movement, 61, 83–84; and Merlino, 60–62; and Durkheim, 62–63; on myth, 77–78; corporativist uses of, 251, 259, 287, 316
- Sorrichio, Tommaso, 16, 73, 88, 97, 98
- Soviet system: fascist perceptions of, 277–78, 304–5, 317
- Spadolini, Giovanni, 11
- Spaventa, Bertrand, 303
- Spirito, Ugo, 294–96, 297, 363 (n. 81)
- Starace, Achille, 197, 198, 279
- Steel industry: Italian, 35–36, 43, 131, 159
- Stirpe La*, 14
- Strikes: in postwar crisis, 4, 137–38; Giolitti's policy toward, 41; right liberal concern over, 45, 148–50, 242; in Giolittian period, 50; general strike of 1904, 50–51, 74; Pareto on, 59; Sorel on, 61; in Italian syndicalist theory, 68, 69, 71, 73–74, 78, 90, 98; Parma strike (1908), 74, 85–86, 90; in syndicalist labor movement, 85–86, 87–88, 100–101; in Fascist labor movement, 205, 228; fascist position on, 233, 239, 245, 266, 280
- Sturzo, Luigi, 135
- Suckert, Curzio, 230, 234, 237, 316; on role of Panunzio's ideas, 11, 210, 240–41, 244; place in populist fascism, 199, 200, 208–10
- Suffrage reform: of 1882, 31–32; of 1912, 41, 43; of 1919, 134–35; Acerbo electoral law (1924), 232; of 1928, 283, 287–88; of 1939, 298–99
- Syndicalism, Italian: prevailing interpretation of, 10–11, 20–22, 53–54; relationship to Mussolini, 10, 13, 60, 98–99, 113, 153, 177–79, 228, 276–77, 287, 328 (n. 27); and populist fascism, 11–15, 17–18, 19–20, 22–24, 198–206, 209–12, 215–25, 227–29, 230–31, 234–37, 315–22, as myth makers in Fascist regime, 18, 274, 276–77, 288, 301–5; and Marxism 18–19, 54–58, 63, 77–78, 79–81, 91–93, 153–54, 161–65, 315–16, 333 (n. 23); social constituency of, 20, 22–23, 53–54, 57, 153, 168, 198–99, 315–16, 319–20; petty bourgeois propensities in, 20–23, 157, 225–26, 269–71, 305, 309–10, 322–23; in European radical tradition, 23, 161–64, 169, 315–22; in Socialist party, 49–51, 84–84; on role of Socialist party, 50, 65–66, 91, 98–101, 161, 166; in the labor movement, 50–51, 71, 84, 85–88; and the Italian South, 53–57; relationship to Italian working class, 53–57, 66, 97–98, 113, 154, 166, 176–77, 180, 225–28, 338 (n. 11); and preindustrial radicalism, 54–57, 79–80, 91, 101–2, 111, 115–16, 120, 153–55, 167–68, 169, 170, 257, 315–16, 335 (n. 90); critique of reformism, 56–57, 64–66, 89, 91; on socialist revolution, 57, 68, 70, 73–75, 78–79, 88, 101–2, 112, 119–20, 155–56, 162, 175; on value of working class, 57, 58, 64–65, 66–67, 69–71, 97–98, 156–58, 176–77, 315; on value of socioeconomic organization, 58, 66–67, 72–73, 76–77.
- Starace, Achille, 197, 198, 279
- relative significance of economics and politics in, 64, 67–70, 79–81, 159–61, 168–69, 174; on proletarian motivation, 68–70, 76–78; on strikes and general strikes, 69, 71, 73–74, 78, 90, 98; on proletarian maturation, 70–71, 73–75, 336 (n. 95); emphasis on social solidarity, 69, 70, 71, 72–73; productivism of, 70, 154–58, 159–60, 174, 175, 180; on factory organization, 70–71, 156–175, 262; on social authority, 71–73; critique of Italian liberal state, 71–73, 80, 90–96, 102, 116, 159; contrast with anarchism, 72–75, 77–78; on violence, 75, 78, 93, 115, 123, 234, 236–37; on intervention and World War I, 75, 104, 106–7, 110–11, 112–13, 114–16, 122–27, 153–55, 165–66, 170–71, 211; divergence from Sorelian syndicalism, 75–78; and myth, 76–78; Ferrara congress of 1907, 85, 90; Bologna congresses of 1910, 86, 98, 339 (n. 58); critique of working class, 89, 90–91, 93–94, 97–98, 114–15, 155–58; dissension within, 89, 90, 97–98, 102, 279–80, 289–90, 339 (n. 58); toward redefinition of syndicalism, 92, 95–96, 102–3, 153–54; on need for supplementary political action, 94, 96–98, 101–2, 104, 106–7, 110–11, 115–16, 154; contrast with Mussolinian socialism, 98–99; and Red Week (1914), 101–2; on war, 103–4, 110; on imperialism, 104, 124, 126–27, 122–28, 301; nationalism of, 107–12, 119–20, 122, 124–26; relationship to Italian Nationalism, 117–20, 122–28, 245, 246, 248–49, 271–73, 278, 280, 287; role in postwar crisis, 135, 139; critique of maximalism, 155–58, 166; on need for collaboration among producers, 158–59; on veterans as revolutionary elite, 164–67; neosyndicalist political program, 168–76, 179–80; totalitarian populist thrust of, 170–73, 175; on political coordination of the economy, 174–76; on early fascist movement, 178–79, 187–88, 225–29, 235; as source of corporativism, 232–33, 237, 239–41; as critics in fascist regime, 274–76, 279–81, 283, 291–94, 297–301. See also Corporativism, Populist fascism
- Syndical law of 1926, 239–40, 243–44, 245, 265–66, 275, 280, 281, 289, 290
- Tancredi, Libero [pseud.]. See Rocca, Massimo
- T
- Tannenbaum, Edward, 28
- Tarde, Gabriel, 67, 334 (n. 63)
- Totalitarianism: in Nationalism, 143, 145–48, 150–51, 189–91, 245–46, 271, 273; in neosyndicalism, 170–73, 175; and populist fascism, 192, 204, 205, 207, 210, 212, 219–20, 322; in fascism, 239, 247, 266–73, 279, 308, 324, 359 (n. 102); and corporativism, 249, 256, 266–73, 325; defined, 267, 268
- Transformism, 32–35, 37, 141, 142; opposition to, 36–37, 45–46, 52; in Giolittian period, 42–45; crisis of, 133, 134–35; and Mussolini, 182–85, 213–14, 231–32, 325
- Turat, Augusto, 212, 228, 261, 266, 278, 279, 284, 289, 290, 291–92, 294, 323, 328 (n. 23), 351 (n. 62); place in populist fascism, 198, 199, 200, 204–8
- Turiello, Pasquale, 55
- U
- Unione Italiana del Lavoro (UIL), 174, 177, 185–86, 214, 217, 225–26
- Unione Sindacale Italiana (USI), 87–88, 100, 106, 113
- Unione Sindacale Milanese (USM), 87–88, 100–101, 113
- Universal suffrage: in Salvemini strategy, 52; in syndicalist thinking, 95–96, 339 (n. 49). See also Liberalism, Suffrage reform
- V
- Vallauri, Carlo, 221
- Verba, Sidney, 28
- Veterans: war experience and idealism of, 132–33; in postwar crisis, 137–39, 215; attraction to neosyndicalism, 168, 176, 179–80; in populist fascism, 193–97. See also Populist fascism; World War I
- Victor Emmanuel II, 30, 31
- Victor Emmanuel III, 106
- Viesti, Luigi, 15
- Violence: syndicalists on, 75, 78, 93, 115, 123; in fascism, 188, 214, 217, 223, 224, 231, 234; fascists on, 207–9, 210, 234, 235, 236–37, 301
- Vita italiana*, La, 323–24
- Vivarelli, Roberto, 6, 9–10, 328 (n. 30)
- Voce, La, 46, 75, 83
- W
- Walras, Leon, 67
- War: in Nationalist thinking, 47, 118, 120–22, 123; in syndicalist thinking, 103–4, 110, 114–15, 122–28; Grandi on, 219–20. See also World War I

Weiss Franz, 16, 69, 97, 98
Working class, Italian: during World War I and postwar crisis, 5, 137–38, 193, 314– 15; in Giolittian system, 41; links to reformism, 51; and fascism, 196–97, 199,
214, 222–23, 229–30, 238, 277, 290, 291–
92, 295–96, 297, 323. See also Labor movement, Italian; Fascist labor movement; Fascist movement; Syndicalism,
Italian

World War I: fascist conception of meaning of, 7, 193–94, 197, 211, 219–20, 246, 251;

syndicalist conception of, 75, 106–7,
110–11, 112–13, 114–16, 122–28, 153–55,
165–66, 169, 170–71, 176, 316;
Nationalist conception of, 121–22, 143;
Italian experience of, 129–36, 188, 219–
20, 326; impact on soldiers, 132–33,
193–94; as source of idealism, 136, 194–
95; socialist attitude toward, 137–39
World War II, 301, 305, 326

Z
Zangara, Vincenzo, 284